Eisenhower, Mamie Arrive at Gettysburg Farm

Ike Gets Warm Welcome from His Neighbors

Mrs. Eisenhower Is Celebrating Her 59th Birthday

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP)—President Eisenhower, "feeling fine" and looking it, came to his country home today and got a warm and jubilant welcome from his neighbors.

The home folks—some 8,000 of them—packed Lincoln Square in the heart of this famed Civil War community and roared a happy "Welcome Ike."

Mr. Eisenhower responded with a brief speech expressing his "very deepest thanks."

The President and Mrs. Eisenhower drove 80 miles from Washington for an indefinite stay on their farm on the outskirts of town where Mr. Eisenhower will recuperate from his heart attack and carry on his presidential duties.

The Eisenhowers drove into the center of town for the ceremonies before continuing the three miles to their 189-acre farm on the edge of the historic Civil War battlefield.

A Big Welcome
The enthusiastic crowd gave a rousing cheer as the Eisenhowers drove into the square. The President, bare-headed and standing in an open car, grinned broadly.

Mrs. Eisenhower received from 13-year-old Patricia Weaver, daughter of the mayor, an arm bouquet of scarlet "Better Times" roses and orchids.

A band played and the crowd sang "Happy Birthday to You, Mamie."

The President, with Mrs. Eisenhower on his arm, walked out of the White House back door smiling and happy. Good naturedly, both posed for photographers for several minutes before stepping into the President's limousine.

The President spent more than an hour in his White House office, working mostly on routine matters. He received, among other things, a report from Secretary of State John Foster Dulles on the Geneva talks.

It's Mamie's Birthday
The President's face showed some of the color which he apparently picked up Saturday and Sunday during some mild practice work on the White House putting green.

Mamie responded gaily with a "Thank you" when assembled reporters and photographers wished her happy birthday. She is 59 today.

Mr. Eisenhower's work in his White House office this morning was the first since Aug. 14.

The Chief Executive—after a weekend of rest and mild exercise at the White House—was ready to step up his schedule a little today. He planned a brief speech in Gettysburg's flag-bedecked Lincoln Square to thank his townsmen for their kindness and their prayers during his recent illness.

Tuesday he will go to the tiny office in the Gettysburg post office from which he and his aides will conduct business of the nation and the free world.

Although the time actually spent in the 12 by 24-foot office may be limited, the President will be in finger-tip touch with the government's far-flung operations at all times through a massive communications system set up in his farmhouse study. The President's aides made clear that Mr. Eisenhower personally would be directing the government.

Having made the airplane trip from Denver to Washington Friday without serious fatigue, Mr. Eisenhower looked more and more like a man ready to step up the pace of his activities.

Over the weekend, he slept well, attended a movie, played with his grandchildren, chatted with two old Army buddies—Gens. Walter Bedell Smith and Alfred M. Gruenther—and gave his son, John, pointers on putting form.

WHITE HOUSE IS ONCE MORE "LIGHT" HOUSE—Lights in President Eisenhower's second-floor living quarters at the White House once more cast their cheerful glow as the President and his wife return to the nation's capital. "First time the lights have been on like that since the President and Mrs. Eisenhower went to Denver back in August (and) it does look cheerful," commented one of the White House guards.

Stevenson Composes Message to Announce His Candidacy Tuesday

CHICAGO (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson composed a long-awaited message today on his 1956 political plans.

He promised to announce Tuesday whether he will seek the Democratic nomination for president next year.

It will come as a shock to his associates and political backers if his statement is anything but an announcement of candidacy.

Already, the 1952 Democratic presidential nominee has gathered the makings of a political staff around him.

He has lined up a former aide to ex-President Truman to handle press relations, a newspaperman as personal secretary, and a former congressional candidate to do spadework.

Stevenson also may announce Wednesday the appointment of a manager to direct his pre-convention campaign. James A. Finnegan, secretary of the commonwealth in Pennsylvania, was reported to be the top candidate for that post.

Stevenson's announcement will precede a round of party meetings which Democratic leaders will attend here Thursday through Saturday.

Odds are he will have a chance to chat at a Saturday night rally with two Democrats who may oppose him for the top nomination, if not sooner. They are Tennessee Sen. Estes Kefauver and New York Gov. Averell Harriman.

Kefauver's camp said he will announce his candidacy for president within a few weeks. Harriman won't say yet what he's going to do, but he is regarded as a possible presidential candidate, too.

Temperatures which climbed into the high 70s Sunday were expected to skid as much as 40 degrees. Snowy weather accompanied the blast and icy highways were already blamed for five traffic deaths—three in South Dakota and one each in Iowa and Minnesota.

The U. S. Weather Bureau said a chunk of Arctic air had broken from the frigid mass located over the northern Rockies and was speeding eastward. It was expected to have the central Midwest in a chilling grip by tonight.

Midwesterners enjoyed what possibly will be their last taste of Indian summer weather Sunday. The temperature set a Nov. 13 record and another record for warm weather so late in the year when it went to 77 at Indianapolis. Chicago's 67 was only three degrees shy of a record and St. Louis had a summery 82.

A 76-year-old heat record for the date was broken at Columbus, Ohio, Sunday when the thermometer showed 74 at 2:45 p. m. Previous high was 73 in 1879.

To the west, there was no let up in the icy cold mass which kept the mercury between a range of 30 to 9 below zero at Cutbank, Mont., Sunday.

The architect was the firm of J. Fletcher Lankton, Peoria, who was the architect for the new State Office Building at Springfield, Ill., first told of the jury's report by the United Press, said:

"This is the first time either our integrity or quality of our work has been questioned." He said his firm has done more than 300 million dollars in work all over the world since being founded in 1930.

Lonardi Ousted As President Of Argentina

Cabinet General Denounces Army Move as 'Treason'

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—Gen. Juan Jose Uraguena denounced today as "treason" the palace coup that ousted President Eduardo Lonardi and said he was resigning from the army to have full freedom of action to fight the move.

The strongly worded statement by Lonardi's transport minister brought into the open the first major rift among the military forces supporting the revolutionary regime that ousted President Juan D. Peron. Some 60 per cent of these remained loyal to Peron during the revolution.

Lonardi was replaced Sunday by a new soldier-president, Maj. Gen. Pedro E. Aramburu, 52, and a four-man council consisting of Lonardi's army, navy and air force ministers and vice president Rear Adm. Isaac Rojas, a hero of the revolt against Peron.

Coup Without Bloodshed
The ousting of Lonardi was accomplished without bloodshed, but the defiant statement of Uraguena and a statement by Lonardi himself that he had not resigned raised the possibility of trouble ahead for the new regime.

Troops cordoned off the Plaza de Mayo but no incidents were reported. The state of siege restrictions already in effect were somewhat tightened, but the city was quiet.

Political observers said Lonardi was overthrown because his government was becoming too extreme right-wing. In recent weeks his cabinet had become "packed" with ultra right-wing Catholic Nationalists and there were fears this group would seize power.

Aramburu, in a presidential communique issued early today, said Lonardi was overthrown because of the presence of these groups trying to guide Lonardi's policy toward "totalitarian extremism."

One of the first acts of the new president was to restore Dr. Eduardo Basso as minister of interior and acting minister of justice.

It was Basso's resignation and replacement by two members of the extreme right-wing nationalist group that touched off public shouts of "Democracy yes, Nazis no" and led to the downfall of Lonardi.

The government also announced the appointment of Dr. Luis A. Podesta Costa as foreign minister. Podesta Costa, 70, is a well known authority on international law, friendly to the United States.

Peoria Jury Recommends Architect, Contractors Be Sued for Housing Work

PEORIA (AP)—A Peoria County grand jury report today recommended an architect and two contractors be sued and investigated for their performances in building a public housing project.

The seven-page "final report" of the grand jury was handed down Saturday after a lengthy inquiry in which the jury heard 47 witnesses and subpoenaed hundreds of documents.

The 44-building, multiple apartment Taft Homes were built on the north side of Peoria under the federal housing program with administration by the local Peoria Housing Authority.

The architect was the firm of J. Fletcher Lankton, Peoria, who was the architect for the new State Office Building at Springfield, Ill., first told of the jury's report by the United Press, said:

Robert Sherwood, Noted Author and Playwright, Dies at Age of 59

NEW YORK (AP)—Playwright Robert Emmett Sherwood died following a coronary thrombosis today at the age of 59.

Sherwood entered New York hospital early Saturday morning after suffering the attack at his home. He suffered a setback about noon Sunday and was reported in steadily worsening condition this morning.

Sherwood was the author of more than a dozen Broadway hit plays and definitive political biography: "Roosevelt and Hopkins: An Intimate History."

He had been an intimate of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt serving in several wartime posts in Washington. He left his post as overseas director of the Office of War Information in 1944 to join the President's campaign speech-writing staff.

A new Sherwood play, "Small War on Murray Hill," is scheduled for production shortly by the Playwrights Company of which he was a founding member.

Sherwood won three Pulitzer prizes for plays—"Idiot's Delight," "Abe Lincoln in Illinois" and "There Shall Be No Night"—and another for his Roosevelt-Hopkins biography. Only Eugene O'Neill has been equally awarded for his dramatic work.

Sherwood underwent an emergency gall bladder operation about three months ago.

Sherwood was married twice. His first wife, Mary Brandon Sherwood, a niece of the writer Booth Tarkington, divorced him in 1935 after 13 years of marriage. A month later he married Madeline Hurlock Connelly in a switch likened by many to a tale he might tell on the stage.

The second Mrs. Sherwood had been recently divorced from playwright Marc Connelly, Sherwood's old friend and the best man at his first wedding.

He is survived also by a daughter, the wife of a lawyer.

Friend of Slain Boys Admits Story of Kidnaping a Hoax

CHICAGO (AP)—A 14-year-old friend of Chicago's three murdered boys tearfully confessed today that he cooked up a wild story of assault and abduction "to give some hope" to a heartbroken mother.

Tom Fijak, a Boy Scout comrade and honorary pallbearer of two of the slain boys, walked into sheriff's police headquarters late Sunday and announced he had just been kidnaped.

A 6-foot man had forced his way into his home, hit him over the head, and taken him on a three-hour car ride bordering the forest preserve where his murdered friends' bodies were found, Fijak said.

As evidence, he pointed to a lump on his head and torn-out telephone wires and an overturned vase at his home.

Admits Telling Lie
But, after hours of intensive questioning, the young Boy Scout broke down and admitted it was all a lie—a white one, he insisted.

He had dreamed up the story out of pity for Mrs. Anton Schuessler, whose two boys were murdered and whose husband died of a grief-induced heart attack last Friday.

He got his inspiration from a "Dead End Kids" movie on television, he said, and overturned the vase and tore out the telephone wires to make it look real.

He also whacked himself over the head with a brick and "Boy, it hurt," he told some of Chicago's top police officials.

Story Stirred Storm
Earlier, Fijak's story had stirred up a storm at investigative headquarters. He lives only a block from the Schuessler home and it was hoped that the killer had at last provided a break in the case.

But the boy's shamefaced confession left police back where they started, with no tangible clues or leads.

Four weeks ago, the Schuessler boys, John, 13, and Anton, 11, were murdered along with their friend, 13-year-old Robert Peterson, on Chicago's Northwest Side.

Two days after the murder, on Oct. 18, their nude, mutilated bodies were found dumped in a forest preserve ditch. An all-out manhunt failed to turn up a single clue and the tragedy became greater last week when Schuessler died, leaving his wife alone in the world.

Fijak, his eyes red from tears, told officials "I wanted to give Mrs. Schuessler some hope that the killer would be found."

NEW YORK (AP)—Navy ships today towed a fire-blackened radar sentry vessel toward a ship yard where experts will search for the cause of a fire in which three seamen died and two others were injured.

The USS Searcher, a converted World War II Liberty ship, was swept by fire 125 miles at sea Sunday when a fuel tank exploded and burst into flames.

The Navy reported today that the bodies of two seamen, trapped in the ship's hold, had been found. They had been missing since fire broke out in the radar sentinel's starboard fuel tank at 6 a. m. Sunday.

The Searcher had just started a 20-day patrol in the Atlantic Ocean east of Cape May, N. J., as a floating link in the Continental Air Defense Command's chain of vessels and planes guarding the nation against attack.

The 10,800-ton vessel carrying a crew of 14 officers and 170 men was cruising through the Atlantic some 125 miles southeast of New York City when the disaster struck.

Three injured seamen were transferred to the Coast Guard cutter Ingham and then to two planes which flew them to the Coast Guard air station at Floyd Bennett Field, Brooklyn. From there they were flown by helicopter to the St. Albans Naval Hospital.

TOP Farm Program Signals
All-Out Race for Farm Vote

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — thoroughly alarmed by the political dangers of sagging farm prices, the Republican administration is now planning to spend hundreds of millions of dollars to in back the farm vote.

This is the real significance of the six-point supplementary farm program announced by President Eisenhower at Denver after his conference with Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson.

Politically, this new Republican farm program has the effect of being a counter-proposal to offset the stand taken by Democratic leaders Adlai E. Stevenson, Gov.
Everett Harriman and others in favor of 90 per cent price supports.

SO WHILE SPOKESMEN for both parties may deny it, the race is on to see which party can promise farmers the most. It is a shameless bid by both to buy the farm vote. That this rivalry comes a year ahead of next election day is a record.

It is the decline in farm income and the rise in the cost of things farmers buy that spark this early political auction. Republican leaders realize they can't afford to sacrifice a single congressional seat next year—even for a principle.

Details of the new Benson program will be unfolded gradually.
The plan to buy canned pork meats, cured hams and lard is merely a first step. The plan to buy surplus U. S. sugar is second.
The full program won't be known until Congress reconvenes in January.

SOME ADMINISTRATION OF-FICIALS believe that the Secretary of Agriculture has ample authority under present law to put new policies into operation. Benson himself does not think so. He will therefore wait on congressional approval before getting too far out on a limb.

Any new program requiring additional money will, of course, require a congressional appropriation.
This year Congress thought the secretary didn't ask for enough money and forced more on him.
What Congress will do with new farm legislation if present law is thrown open for amendment is anybody's guess.

The grand total of all money available to Department of Agriculture this year is, in round numbers, a staggering 3.7 billion dollars. It includes a two-billion-dollar increase (to 12 billion dollars) for crop loans and 388 million dollars for electrification and farm home loans.

It also includes 30 per cent of all customs receipts, an estimated 195 million dollars for purchasing temporary surplus perishables that affect the market. The 85-million-dollar pork purchase money comes out of this.

The Department of Agriculture's other programs get 787 million dollars in direct appropriations for this year.

UNDER THE NEW PROGRAM,
the 98-million-dollar research program will be stepped up by an as yet unknown amount.

The 255-million-dollar soil and agricultural conservation programs will be stepped up. If this involves taking 10 per cent of America's 350 million acres out of production by a subsidy of $10 an acre, it would cost 350 million dollars more a year.

Expanding aid to low-income farm families can cost as much as Congress wants to put into it.

The government now has over seven billion dollars' worth of surpluses. This includes 2.6 billion dollars' worth of wheat and 1.4 billion dollars' worth of corn. Selling this for feed at only a 10 per cent loss would cost three hundred million dollars.

Nobody has estimated the cost of trying to get the "suitcase" farmers out of production on marginal lands in the dust bowl.
But the total cost for this new Benson supplementary farm program could reach one billion dollars.

Arvey, Sachs Dispute Health Of Candidate

CHICAGO — City Treasurer
Morris B. Sachs, who jolted Chicago Democrats when he announced he would run for governor, had them arguing about his health today.

National Committeeman Jacob
M. Arvey brought the dispute into the open Sunday when he said Sachs is "a sick man" and unable to campaign for the governorship or serve if elected.

Sachs, who has announced he will seek the party's gubernatorial nomination, snapped back that he's in perfect health.

"Since when is Arvey a doctor?" the Chicago clothing merchant asked. "I was examined by my doctors two months ago and given a clean bill of health. I can carry out a campaign better than any man in the field."

The 59-year-old Democrat added that he had been urged to run by people from downstate and that he will make the race "regardless of who the organization decides should be a candidate."

Arvey brought up the subject of Sachs' health when asked on a television interview what he thought of the treasurer's candidacy.

"He is not physically able to carry on the duties of governor, let alone go through a rigorous campaign," Arvey said.

"As his friend, I would not advise him to go through a campaign," he said. "And the supposed friends who are deluding, enticing and flattering him in urging him to run are not his real friends. They are doing him a dis-service."

Sachs has had an unconventional political career, seeking office for the first time on ex-Mayor Martin Kennelly's ticket in last year's bitterly fought Chicago mayoralty primary.

Kennelly was defeated, but Sachs then ran on the Richard J.
Daley ticket and won against his Republican opponent. Since taking office, he has broken political precedent by firing employees he said were not needed.

Three Gallatin County Young People Receive State Awards for 4-H Work

Three Gallatin county young people—two girls and a boy—have received statewide recognition for their outstanding 4-H club work, according to Earl M. Lutz, Gallatin county farm adviser.

Kay Drone, 17 years old, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Drone of Shawneetown, and Mary Ellen Lawler, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs.
James T. Lawler of Ridgway, have earned the 4-H Key awards, Mr.
Lutz has announced.

Larry Wilson, son of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Wilson, has been presented a 4-H jacket for exceptional work in the 4-H electricity project. This was one of forty jackets awarded in Illinois, Mr.
Lutz's announcement revealed.

The 4-H Key award is given to about 70 Illinois boys and girls who have demonstrated outstanding qualities in leadership and 4-H project work over several years. There are about 60,000 4-H members in Illinois and approximately two million in the United States.

Miss Lawler has been in club work nine years and for the past four years has served as Junior Leader of the St. Patrick's club.
She is a graduate of the Ridgway high school and is now a sophomore at Southern Illinois university majoring in home economics.

Miss Drone has been a 4-H club member for eight years and has been the Junior Leader of the Sew-N Sews club for the past four years. She is now a student in Nurse's college in Evansville.

Both girls have attended 4-H
State Junior Leadership conference, served as County 4-H Federation delegates, been active on FHA and church work.

Miss Drone has received "I Dare
You" book, National Leadership contest and award, Girl's Record ribbon, Dairy Food and Demonstration and Achievement awards.

Miss Lawler has received "I Dare
You" book, Leadership award, Record and Achievement, Girl's Record ribbon, Clothing and Dress Review awards.

The 4-H Key award winners are selected in the state 4-H office and the awards are provided by the Cities Service Oil company. This is just one of the many awards made available by large companies who know what 4-H work is doing to train for citizenship, Mr. Lutz stated.

Dwight David Eisenhower is the first U. S. President since Grover Cleveland without a double letter in either his given name or surname.

Milwaukee Man Kills Wife, Three Children, Self
MILWAUKEE (AP)—A 41-year-old successful plumbing contractor, described as an ideal family man, shot his wife and three children today, then set fire to their bodies before turning the gun on himself, police reported.
The death victims were Elmore Buckethal, his wife, Mildred, 40, Bonnie Lynn, 12, Cynthia, 10, and Thomas, 8.
Police said Buckethal, a regular churchgoer and non-drinker, apparently set fire to his downtown plumbing supply store before going to his home in fashionable Shorewood in the early morning hours and killing his family.
Shorewood Police Chief Emil Bartels said Buckethal apparently opened a quart can of No. 10 motor oil and loaded a .22 caliber automatic pistol in the kitchen. Then he went upstairs, the chief said, and shot his wife in bed and the children in their bedrooms. Next he set individual fires to the bodies and shot himself in the head.
The wife's body was found near the doorway of their bedroom, the little girls were in bed and the boy lay crumpled near his doorway. All of the fire was confined to the floor around the bodies.
Erwin Balfanz, Mrs. Buckethal's brother, said he knew of no conceivable reason for Buckethal's action.

Michigan Meets Ohio State Saturday in Showdown Battle for Rose Bowl Trip

CHICAGO (AP)—Ohio State will pick its successor in the 1956 Rose Bowl classic this Saturday when the defending Big Ten champs take on revitalized Michigan at Ann Arbor.

Michigan's once-beaten Wolverines "must" defeat Howard (Hopalong) Cassidy & Co. to make an unprecedented third trip to Pasadena. A loss or a tie would automatically give Michigan State the Rose Bowl Journey.

Michigan bounced back from its 25-6 upset trouncing by Illinois and walloped Indiana, 30-0, to set the stage for their showdown battle with Woody Hayes' Buckeyes.

Cassidy rode again—scoring all three Buckeye touchdowns—in Ohio State's 29-10 conquest of Iowa. Cassidy's runs of 45, 10 and 3 yards gave him 36 touchdowns in 35 games and an all-time Ohio State scoring mark of 216 points.

Buckeyes Keep Winning

Ohio State's only two defeats this season were at the hands of Stanford and Duke in non-conference contests. The Buckeyes haven't lost a Big Ten game since November of 1953.

The youngster who may duplicate a few of Cassidy's feats during the next two years ran wild again Saturday at Madison, Wis. Illinois sophomore Bob Mitchell scored two touchdowns and ran 38 yards to set up a field goal as the Illini edged Wisconsin, 17-14.

A week before the Hot Springs, Ark., Negro almost single-handedly upset Michigan, Saturday he ruined Ivy Williamson's record of never having lost more than three games in a season at Wisconsin. The defeat was the Badgers' fourth, and next year Williamson will be athletic director.

Michigan State closed out its Big Ten season with a 42-14 romp over Minnesota, giving the Spartans a final record of five wins and one defeat, a 14-7 loss to Michigan. All the Spartans can do now is root for Ohio State and hope Cassidy doesn't break a leg.

Dawson Sets Record

Len Dawson, Purdue's passing wizard, tossed for three touchdowns — one a Big Ten record heave—and set up two others as the Boilermakers buried winless Northwestern, 46-8.

Dawson heaved one pass from his own end zone into the arms of Erich Barnes that went for 95 yards and a touchdown. That play wiped out the Big Ten record of 91 yards for a scoring pass set by Lou D'Achille to Bob Robertson of Indiana against Iowa in 1950.

In other games this Saturday, Wisconsin (3-3) travels to Minnesota (1-5), Purdue (3-2-1) is at Indiana (1-4) in the battle for the Old Oaken Bucket and Illinois (3-3) is at Northwestern (0-6).

Iowa takes on Notre Dame in their annual bitter rivalry and Marquette, which upset once-beaten Holy Cross, travels to Michigan State.

Eagles Defeat Browns, 33-17; Bears Win, 24-3

By United Press

The Chicago Bears, picked by their coach to lose two more games, tied the Los Angeles Rams for the National Football League's Western Division lead today while the Cleveland Browns, victims of a brilliant Philadelphia Eagle rally, nursed a one-game edge in the Eastern race.

"I think we'll lose two more and we could lose three or four," Coach George Halas said after his Bears walloped the Rams Sunday, 24-3. The Bears reeled off their fifth straight victory to deadlock the Rams with five triumphs and three defeats. Each of the 12 clubs has four more games.

While the Bears tightened the Western race before 50,187 Chicago fans, the Eagles unleashed one of the league's finest rallies to upset the champion Browns, 33-17. Cleveland, trying for its seventh straight victory, took a 17-0 lead in the first 12 minutes. But quarterback Adrian Burke led a comeback that dumped the champions before a standing room crowd of 39,303 Shibe park fans.

Cut Browns' Lead

The Washington Redskins took advantage of Philadelphia's triumph and cut Cleveland's lead to a game by shutting out the San Francisco Forty-Niners, 7-0. But the New York Giants ruined Baltimore's chance to deadlock the Rams and Bears for the Western lead by defeating the Colts, 17-7.

In the other games, the Detroit Lions stopped a last-second scoring bid by the Pittsburgh Steelers to win, 31-28, and the Green Bay Packers defeated the Chicago Cardinals, 31-14.

Cleveland now has a 6-2 record,

Bull Pups Strike Early to Beat Benton, 27 to 13

The Harrisburg Bull Pups struck quickly Saturday night at Taylor Field and defeated the Benton freshman-sophomore grid team, 27-13, to gain a bit of revenge for the loss handed the Bull Dogs at Benton Veterans Day.

To begin with, Mickey Stone ran the opening kickoff 80 yards for a touchdown and about three minutes later he passed 31 yards to Bob Clark for a second tally. Eddie Price made the extra point on the first touchdown and Harrisburg held a very early 13-point lead.

On the last play of the first half, with only two seconds remaining, Clark went over from the three for the third tally and kicked the extra point to give the Pups a 20-0 halftime lead.

The locals increased the lead to 27-0 in the third quarter when Stone ran 16 yards through the center of the Benton line, then threw a pass to Bud Logan for the extra point.

On the first play from scrimmage after the following kickoff, Arnold Tenant, Benton back, raced 66 yards down the sideline for the first Benton tally to make the score 27-6. In the last quarter Benton scored again on a seven-yard drive by Dave Walker and Purdue plunged for the extra point to make the final score 27-13.

Substitute Freely

Coaches Ben Chamness and Jim Beers substituted freely during the final period to give as many boys as possible a chance to play in the last game of the season.

Starters for the Bull Pups were Bud Logan and Bill Yates at ends with Yates looking outstanding on several plays and Logan doing some nice punting; Ray Hassett and Don Pickford at tackles, Gary Aldridge and Bill Endsley at guards, Allen Buchanan at center, Bob Clark at quarterback, Jerry Hicks and Mickey Stone at halfbacks and Eddie Price at fullback. Others who played were Dale Martin, A. J. Bryant, Darrell Biggs, Don Sheldon, Wendell Fisher, Zan Hefer, Henry Winters, Benny Parks, Mike Woolcott, David Dalton, Darrell Duke and Fleming.

Statistics: First downs—Harrisburg 10, Benton 5. Net yards rushing—Harrisburg 127, Benton 140. Passing—Harrisburg seven out of 14 for 90 yards, Benton three out of six for 22 yards. Total from scrimmage—Harrisburg 217 yards, Benton 162 yards. Penalties—Harrisburg 40 yards, Benton 5 yards.

St. Louis Cardinals Schedule 11 Home Doubleheaders

ST. LOUIS (AP)—General Manager Frank Lane announced Saturday that the St. Louis Cardinals would play 11 doubleheaders at Busch Stadium in 1956.

The Cards' official home schedule, released Saturday, showed that nine of the bargain bills would be on Sundays and two on Memorial Day and Labor Day. There will be two doubleheaders each with New York, Philadelphia, Chicago and Cincinnati, and one each with Milwaukee, Brooklyn and Pittsburgh.

The Cardinals will also return to the night opener next season, starting off with Milwaukee on Friday night, April 20, at 8 p. m.

Washington is 5-3 and Pittsburgh is third in the Eastern Division with a 4-4 mark. The Rams and Bears (both 5-3) are only a game ahead of the Colts and Packers (both 4-4) in the close Western scramble.

Looking At Sports

By BILL MELTON

"Who is the tail hook shooter with the yearlings?" I asked Bob Dallas, Ridgeway coach, recently while at the Gallatin county school for pictures of the basketball team.

"Why that's the boy I told you about the other day," said Dallas. Turned out he had told someone else, so he had to repeat it for me.

The boy is Roger Suter, a skinny 6-5 freshman who shows promise of being a wonderful player with more experience and some "meat on his bones."

Dallas says he was taking several of the players home one afternoon recently following practice and in talking to Suter, told him he needed to take on some weight so that he would be strong enough to keep going for a full game.

"What should I do to pick up weight?" Suter asked. "Oh, eat lots of meat and potatoes and be sure and eat lots of bread," said Dallas.

After thinking it over for a minute or two, Suter said, "Say coach, about that bread, should I eat it toasted or raw?"

"Shows he's thinking and willing to follow my advice," laughed Dallas.

Suter was practicing a hook shot and just didn't miss. Regardless of how he eats his bread, he looks like a top prospect.

Looked like "scout night" at Carrier Mills Thursday. Saw coaches on scouting duty from Shawneetown, Galatia and Mt. Vernon Carrier Mills meets Mt. Vernon and Shawneetown Friday and Saturday of this week and will be at Galatia before many games roll around.

Had a member of the fair sex at the scorers' bench for the Mound City-Carrier Mills game last Thursday. Mary Ruth Lutz, Mound City high school senior, is the official scorer for the team. Also is the correspondent for the school paper and calls in the games to neighboring daily newspapers. Says she plans to enter college in the fall of 1956 and major in journalism.

Eldorado Coach Al Adams says he is experiencing a little difficulty in lining up the 1956 football schedule. He is anxious to have South Seven conference schools on the list and the past two years has played Benton, West Frankfort, Marion and Harrisburg from the loop.

Marion has notified Eldorado that their contract will not be renewed, but stressed that the association with Eldorado had been of the finest and that players, coaches and fans had always displayed a high degree of sportsmanship. Believe Elkville will replace Eldorado on the Marion schedule.

Eldorado and West Frankfort are having trouble agreeing on a site. Both want to play at home. Benton will be on the Eldorado schedule again and of course the annual Harrisburg-Eldorado game is a must. It is the oldest football rivalry in southern Illinois, dating back to about 1910.

Michigan State coaches don't think much of the idea of scouting football teams by television. When two of the coaches were kidded recently about watching a future opponent on TV, says The Sporting News, Coach Duffy Daugherty of Michigan State said:

"Watching a game on TV is very misleading. You don't see the secondary and you don't see the defense. You don't see the blocking. The camera just follows the ball."

John Romonosky, Harrisburg professional baseballer playing winter ball with Los Mochis in the Mexican Pacific Coast League, helped his team climb out of the cellar and into a tie for fourth place in the loop standings recently.

Los Mochis got off to a slow start, but of late has perked up and through games of Nov. 6 was in a fourth place tie only four games from the top.

Romonosky contributed a 3-2 pitching decision during a recent four-game winning streak. Los Mochis is heavily loaded with St. Louis Cardinal prospects. Romonosky's contract is owned by Houston of the Texas league.

Oklahoma, Maryland, Only Major Unbeaten Teams, May Meet in Orange Bowl

By United Press

The prospect of a "national championship" clash between Maryland and Oklahoma danced before the eyes of delighted Orange Bowl promoters today, but Rose, Sugar, and Cotton bowl officials must wait a few more days to learn their lineups.

Maryland, the nation's No. 2 team, now needs only the official Atlantic Coast Conference vote to put it in the Orange Bowl as a result of Saturday's comeback 25-12 victory over Clemson.

What's more, the Terrapins and Oklahoma were left as the only major unbeaten, untied teams in the nation when West Virginia—only other claimant to that record—was dealt a jarring 26-7 loss by Pittsburgh in Saturday's most important upset.

Clemson, Maryland's last conference foe of the season, stunned the Terps by seizing a 12-0 lead in the first 16 minutes, but Ed Vereb's two touchdowns led Maryland in a brilliant rally. Maryland thus is in line for a chance to revenge its 7-0 upset by Oklahoma in the 1953 Orange Bowl.

Oklahoma and Maryland are heavily favored to wind up their regular seasons unbeaten this Saturday, the Sooners over Nebraska in a battle for the Big Seven championship and Maryland over

George Washington. But here's how the "guessing game" on the other major bowls is going:

Big Ten Leaders

Rose Bowl—Big Ten: It's either Michigan State or Michigan, and this Saturday's Ohio State-Michigan game will decide it. Michigan State finished its league season with a 5-1 mark by drubbing Minnesota, 42-14. Michigan, which trounced Indiana, also is 5-1 now with this one extra game to play.

Pacific Coast Conference: Either UCLA or Oregon State. UCLA can clinch by beating Southern California this Saturday in its final game. But a Uclan loss would give Oregon State a chance to finish with a slightly better league mark (6-1 to 5-1) by beating Oregon. That would turn the official league vote into a puzzle, since UCLA beat Oregon State, 38-0 early in the season.

Sugar Bowl—Host team from Southeastern Conference: Won't be known until Nov. 26 when league-leading Mississippi can clinch by beating Mississippi State. A loss by Ole Miss could open the door to one or four other teams—Auburn, Georgia Tech, Tennessee, or Vanderbilt.

Visiting team by invitation: Wide-open, with West Virginia apparently out as a result of the Pitt upset.

Cotton Bowl—Host team from Southwest Conference: Either Texas Christian or Texas, and TCU got the inside track by crushing Texas, 47-20. Texas Christian must lose both remaining games (vs. Rice and SMU) for Texas to have a chance.

Navy In Line
Visiting team by invitation: Report is strong that Navy will be offered the bid if it beats Army, Nov. 26.

Galatia Man Hurt in Crash

Billy Powell, 22, of Galatia received treatment at the Harrisburg hospital and was released Saturday following a two-truck collision in front of his house late Friday.

State Policeman Roy A. Lane said that Powell was injured when a large semi-trailer truck started around his vehicle as he was making a left turn into his home on Route 34 near Lake Harrisburg. The big truck, owned by the Parker Bros. Oil Well Co. of Centralia, was driven by William Anderson, Centralia.

Powell was driving a one and a half ton truck loaded with about 100 bushels of corn. The crash caused corn to be strewn all along the highway.

of forging $4,200 in bad checks. His five-year sentence was suspended on condition that the money be repaid. Mrs. King repaid $2,500 of the amount and $105 remained to be paid when Graham was arrested today.

Graham also served a 60-day jail sentence late in 1951 after being convicted of an illicit liquor charge in Lubbock, Tex., the FBI said.

The FBI was called in to assist officials of the Civil Aeronautics Authority and the Civil Aeronautics Board in investigating the crash after it appeared explosives may have been placed aboard the plane.

It was learned in the investigation that 17 of the 39 passengers carried trip-type insurance for the flight—running from the minimum of $6,250 to the maximum of $62,500.

Six of the 17 were each insured for $62,500 in policies taken out at various airports. The insurance which was taken out on Mrs. King cost $1.50.

Ousted President Accepts New Brazil Government; Threat of Civil War Eased

RIO DE JANEIRO (UP) — A threat of civil war eased today with the pledge of ousted President Carlos Luz to accept the new government of Brazil "to avoid bloodshed."

Luz said he would offer no resistance to the military coup that overthrew him and installed Nereu Ramos in his place.

Tension began building up when Luz returned to Rio harbor aboard the cruiser Tamandare aboard which he had fled the capital with a number of supporters at the outset of the bloodless revolt.

He remained aboard ship part of the day and then was brought ashore and held in the naval arsenal. Brazilian marines armed with tommyguns stood guard.

He was released Sunday night and went to his apartment. There he gave United Press an exclusive interview in which he renounced any claim to the presidency.

Fear Change of Mind
Although he had said earlier he would not resist the new government, it had been feared he might change his mind when he returned to Rio and urge his supporters in the military to fight.

But he acknowledged, instead, that "the presidency has passed to Nereu."

"I plan to resign the presidency of the chamber of deputies, probably in the next meeting, so as to avoid any judicial situation," he said.

Luz became acting president when Joao Cafe Jr., who succeeded to the presidency after the death of President Getulio Vargas, suffered a heart attack and took a leave of absence to recover.

Elected Acting President
Nereu, president of the Senate, was elected by the Senate and Chamber of Deputies to be acting president until the inauguration of President-elect Juscelino Kubitschek next January.

The revolt, led by Army Minister Gen. Henrique Teixeira Lott, was staged to prevent a coup by a group of army officers who sought to prevent Kubitschek from taking office.

Murder in Haiti

By John W. Vandercreek

Distributed by NEA Service, Inc. Copyright 1955 by John W. Vandercreek

XXIII

Scarcely had Heraux left than the steward summoned us to Meer's cabin. We found Viggo Sand and Dr. Lund already there. Meer was lying with his arms outside the single sheet which covered him. His lips parted, his eyes half-open, staring at the ceiling. He was breathing regularly, but slowly. I felt his hand. It was clammy.

"I believe," Dr. Lund said calmly, "it is nothing serious. No fever, so there's no infection. Evidently Meer was injured more than he knew. There also, seems to be an element of shock."

Lynch was counting Mer's pulse and peering into his eyes as if he knew what he was doing.

Sand grunted impatiently. "How soon can he talk?"

Dr. Lund smiled. "Unless there are complications, serious complications, I should say in 48 hours."

Back in his own suite Sand made straight for the decanter of old brandy. As merely the hired help, our nerves were supposed to be in order. We were not included.

"I have come halfway across the world. That black man is too curious already. This fool—this blunderer—"

"If," I interrupted, "I could offer a suggestion. Why don't you open Meer's instructions?"

Sand smote his brow a whack. "I have lost my mind! Go outside. In the corridor. While I get it."

Viggo Sand stood stock still until we were outside and the door was shut behind us. Several minutes passed. Then Sand called us.

Sand was pressing down on the desk before him a large rectangle of stiff paper which had been twice folded. It seemed to be a carefully drawn map.

There was something very wrong with it. The general shape of the Mole St. Nicolas was long and narrow. This promontory was blunt.

The slip in which the Vittoria had tied up, I was certain, cut into the cliffs almost due north and south. On this map it lay east and west. The plan of the fortress was square. Certainly the place we had visited was a long rectangle.

"Mr. Sand," said Lynch matter-of-factly, "you have been swindled."

Viggo Sand took a handkerchief from his trouser pocket and dried his forehead.

"If you question our opinion," Lynch persisted, "as very properly you might, I can suggest only that you compare this map with the conventional charts of Haiti. If that still doesn't satisfy you, then learn if you can find the location of the chests with this fiction as your guide."

"Do you think these cases of gold are part of the same — fiction?"

Lynch wagged his head in a decided negative. "Most definitely not. What other conceivable purpose would Braun and Meer have had in fetching you here?"

"Something bothers me," I announced.

Sand looked at me with a kind of scornful gloom. "So?"

"This doesn't fit. That plan is sly. It would fool even a professional sailor if he didn't happen to know this particular terrain and if he didn't compare it with a standard chart. Siegfried Meer isn't that subtle. I'll eat the Nazi medals he no doubt carries around with him if he cooked this up."

"I received it," said Sand, "from Meer's own hands."

"Meer was alone with you?"

"No. Herr Braun was with him. My business understanding was made jointly with them both."

Sand cleared his throat. "My promise was to assist in the recovery of the cases and to return with them to Bremen. I was then to retain 30 per cent of the specie as my commission."

Lynch grunted. "Roughly $1,500,000. Can you remember the circumstances? I mean when Meer gave you the envelope?"

"Yes. I recall perfectly. He had completed our understanding. It was simply a concluding meeting. I was sitting there. He pointed to his favorite high-backed chair across the room. 'Braun there. Meer was standing. I believe he made a speech at me. About how it was my privilege to assist in the regeneration —' Sand shrugged.

"When he had finished he turned to Braun. Meer put out his hand like this — Braun opened a briefcase which he had been holding on his lap. He took out the envelope . . . and gave it to Meer . . . who gave it to me."

Viggo Sand's words had come more and more slowly. The last ones left him with his mouth open.

Lynch chuckled. "It may turn out that Meer was as easily taken in as you were yourself."

Sand's hard blue eyes popped. It filled the great international financier and highbinder with no enthusiasm whatsoever to be told he had been taken in. By switched envelopes.

"What are we to do?"

"I suggest, sir," said Lynch briskly, "that Mr. Deane and I go ashore and look for the chests ourselves."

I looked impersonal and detached. "Captain Heraux now knows of our presence here. Though this part of the island is sparsely populated, someone might see us poking around. If Miss Wyndham was with us it would give the impression we were simple tourists exploring an old ruin. I strongly advise," I strongly advised, "that we take Lynch."

Navy to Unveil Guided Missiles

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Navy is expected to unveil shortly two deadly new guided missiles — one for knocking airplanes out of the sky, the other for blasting submarines out of the sea.

The missiles, still shrouded in secrecy, are called Talos and Petrel.

Talos is a surface-to-air missile designed for anti-aircraft use aboard ships.

Petrel, named after the diving sea bird, is an air-to-under water missile combining a missile power plant and a torpedo-like warhead.

Both missiles now are nearing operational use with the fleet, forcing the Navy to strip away some of the secrecy surrounding them.

To Conduct Services
At Salvation
Army Citadel

Rev. Walter Williamson

The Rev. Walter Williamson of Brooklyn, N. Y., will conduct a series of evangelistic services at The Salvation Army citadel, 512 West Locust street, beginning tomorrow night and continuing nightly through Nov. 20.

Mr. Williamson, known as "The Blind Evangelist," is also musically inclined, playing several kinds of instruments, as well as singing duets with his wife, Roberta.

He became partially blind at an early age, and later lost his sight entirely. Despite this handicap, he has been a successful pastor of several parishes in New York state, as well as a travelling evangelist and accomplished musician.

Lt. Andrew Sands, Harrisburg Salvation Army officer, invites the public to attend these services.

Tongay Escapes
From Florida
Prison Guard

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Russell Tongay, serving 10 years for the death of his famous "Aquatot" daughter, Sunday night escaped from a Florida prison guard who brought him here for a lung examination.

The once-busy, ex-Coast Guardsman had obtained approval of the trip from Gov. Leroy Collins of Florida on a plea that he is dying of lung cancer or tuberculosis. He was to have been examined today.

Tongay has served one day less than six months of his sentence in an unprecedented manslaughter conviction for forcing his daughter Kathy, 5, to make a fatal, 33-foot dive at Miami Beach on May 3, 1953.

Tongay's rigid training of Kathy and Bubba, then 9, aroused bitter criticism. In 1952 the governments of France and Great Britain indignantly refused to let the Aquatots try to swim the English Channel.

Husband Kills
Wife, Her Father,
Uncle and Self

GOESBECK, Tex. (AP)—A man, here to appear before a grand jury on a wife beating charge, killed his wife, her father and her uncle on the Goresbeck court-house lawn today.

He then put the pump shotgun in his mouth and blew off the back of his own head.

The three men died instantly. The woman lived only a few minutes after being taken to the hospital.

The four bodies, after the wild outburst of shooting, lay scattered along the sidewalks and court-house lawn in downtown Goresbeck after Guy Andrews Jr., the husband, hid behind a bush until his wife and her relatives approached and opened fire.

The dead, besides Andrews, were Mrs. Audrey Andrews, his wife; her father, E. Bernard Bryant, and her uncle, William Bryant, all of Houston.

Mrs. Andrews' mother was present when other members of her family were cut down, but she was not wounded.

14 Killed on Illinois Highways
During Week End

By United Press
Traffic accidents killed at least 14 persons in Illinois over the weekend.

Sunday victims included James Bosley, 45, and Esther Hogver, 44, both of Danville, whose car collided with an oil truck at the intersection of Ill. 104 and 29 and near Taylorville.

In another double fatality Sunday, Charles Corson, 25, Kingston, and Elmer Houtz, 24, Genoa, were killed when Houtz' auto overturned on Ill. 20 near Marengo.

Also killed Sunday were John Corrigan, 42, Pontiac, when his car rolled over in a gravel road near Minonk; Mary Dimitrion, 15, who was struck by a hit-run driver in Chicago; and Ralph Schaul, 24, Morton Grove, whose car struck a railroad abutment.

Returns to Duties in Alcohol Tax Division

C. B. Annis has returned to his duties here in the Alcohol Tax division of the Internal Revenue Service after convalescing for several months in Chicago with a broken foot. Eugene Healey is the other member of this division stationed here.

Andrew Jackson was the first U. S. president to ride on a train, making a 13-mile trip on June 6, 1833.
